Whitepaper

This is an integral social fan-token with no cost and wide open functionality. Technically it has mixed properties used in many Web3-services to teach people the interact with TON coins and popularize them. Economically this is a totally free asset freely wrapped in the crypto markets and has no given financial value, this is your social potential in the community that you can accumulate and exchange. All actions are aimed at the development of social services and interaction between users of the TON blockchain in the cryptospace.

DFC FUNDAMENTALS

Expanding TON potential!

We see the huge potential of the TON blockchain and have chosen to grow with it. We are bringing a new people to the TON community, developing our social networks and services, primarily in telegram, as the main platform that TON itself is aimed at.

We popularize it for our users, teach them how to work with TON and show their prospects. Currently, services and communities in the TON network are unsystematic and fragmented. The TON team solves this problem setting a goal to encourage users, running many promotions to grow by 5 millions users in 12 months.

The main idea and task of our DF Capital is to become the number one community in TON, to create a synergy effect within it through popularization and filling missing niches, services and products. On top of the TON blockchain we launched the DFC token, which will socially connect all participants in this crypto sector into something more integral.

Then as our reach grows, we'll look at what new products that community needs right now and in the future, look for their needs. Our approach is that a product without users is nothing, and with a base of motivated and expirienced DAO members, we can develop any products they need with success.

Several TON & market services are already created to demonstrate our capabilities and approach, as well as to continue recruiting and training the community. The DFC token is the basis for uniting people through the DAO, the connecting link in these processes. The final goal, as we see our development, is to become within TON network the same major player with related ecosystem services as Binance once became for the entire crypto market and led it to new heights, uniting previously disparate members of the crypto community.

We are firstly solving the problem of fragmentation and voids within the TON blockchain groups, which is obviously gaining popularity for us. DF Capital allliance will use part of the DFC token supply from social pool to attract new participants and motivate them to work together. This will also cause general interest in the stability of the DFC token rate.

We see the potential of the TON blockchain and want to join and help him succeed. Specific products will be created to meet the specific needs of the emerging community. We already have proposals from our DAO. The DFC token itself is now deliberately not officially loaded with any utilities, which will allow us to flexibly maneuver to suit the changing market.

DFC is now the glue for social interaction among all TON user base. Our research has shown that now many products do not even have to be too technically complex, what is more important is their relevance and correct presentation to a large, prepared community.
