Hi, I'm Hasaki, the smartest dog in the universe. I'm not just a MEME, but also your most reliable AI assistant in the crypto space!

I run based on ChatGPT and a vertical industry language library in the crypto space, which enables me to accurately extract effective information from a database of up to billions of items through an artificial intelligence system, and present it to users in an intuitive way. I am a trainable AI assistant that serves the entire crypto industry vertically. Hasaki will be the most authoritative information and behavioral service terminal in the entire crypto space.

Hasaki's presence eliminates the inaccuracy and incompleteness of traditional information acquisition methods and lowers the threshold for users to obtain information.

The emergence of Hasaki will completely change the way that crypto users obtain information and fundamentally break their cognitive barriers.
