The First Metaverse MOBA NFT Game in BSC!

Transforming the Landscape of Gaming

Imagine the magnetism of Dota 2 or League Legends coupled with the power of the blockchain, which enables people to fully own every asset they acquire within the game - that is the core concept of League of Ancients.

League of Ancients (LOA) is a MOBA NFT-game inspired by Dota 2 and League of Legends. LOA aspires to create an engaging community with a thriving economy; focusing on Free-to-Play and Play-to-Earn mechanics by leveraging on blockchain technology. Riding on the backs of Web3 successes like Axie Infinity, League of Ancients is slated to be the world’s first 5v5 blockchain MOBA game on the BNB Chain.

LOA's model is a zero-barrier entry model where anyone can play and progress in the game with no upfront costs required. With this model, LOA's aim is to transform the esports scene where everybody can earn like a professional gamer. This project is venturing into a genre with a player base of over 250 million worldwide. 99.99% of the existing global player base generates NO income from the sport. We aim to change that and give all players an opportunity to enjoy the game and earn a living anytime, anywhere and on any mobile device.

The MOBA genre became popular when Dota was first introduced into esports scene over 20 years ago. It has since then grown exponentially, to become the foundation of the most iconic esports tournament worldwide. Fast forward twenty years and the gaming world is still obsessed with playing MOBA games. The average player spends 8 hours a day playing MOBA games; simply because this competitive genre provides endless replay value via its strategic, team oriented and adrenaline fueled battles. We see League of Ancients as the latest evolution for MOBA games where players can convert their enjoyment and commitment into real world assets.

By joining us, you can be a part of the blockchain gaming revolution, which will fundamentally change the way society views games - it is no longer a “happy waste of time,” but a new way for people to reap tangible benefits from the hobby they love.
