WEECOINS SOLUTION AND BUSINESS MODEL

Weecomi International firm, which commenced its operations in February 2013, has successfully reached numerous users and partners since its inception. Thanks to its existing network, it has established a broad user base with investors in 40 different countries. As the current user network continues to grow every day, it has influenced the masses and, along with its user base, has become an innovative and forward-looking cryptocurrency. Weecoins are one of the digital assets of Weecomi International on the blockchain. Please note that this is not a stock..

THE IMPORTANCE AND ROLE OF THE USER NETWORK IN THE PROJECT

Weecoins already has a broad user base of investors and users thanks to its existing extensive user network. This extensive user network provides a strong infrastructure in terms of sustainability, stability, and usability in Turkey. It not only attracts investors from Turkey but also has a significant following in Azerbaijan, Uzbekistan, Kyrgyzstan, Kazakhstan, Ukraine, Russia, and Georgia. Many of these countries have growing and evolving crypto asset potentials. Weecoins successfully fills the existing crypto asset gap in these countries, which can be considered relatively new in terms of crypto asset investments.

WEECOINS' IMPORTANCE AND ROLE IN TRADE AND EXCHANGE TRANSACTIONS

In today's world, both domestic and international trade is increasingly moving towards virtual currencies instead of physical currencies. The biggest challenge with physical currencies is that storing and securing them can be quite difficult. Banks have found a solution to this problem by transitioning to virtual currencies. Credit cards and bank cards, which have started to become a necessity of our time, serve this purpose perfectly. They collect your physical money and, in return, provide you with virtual currency that you can use. In exchange for these transactions, they charge higher fees compared to crypto assets. The main reasons for charging this fee are the need to securely store and protect the physical money and assets you provide for your security, the need for secure environments, vaults, and personnel to handle all these processes.

However, the process is a bit different with crypto assets. Weecoins, with its blockchain, records all transactions on the Weegold network. This system is the safest and fastest exchange system in human history. There is no need for massive vaults to store and secure your crypto assets worth hundreds of dollars. All you need are unique keys, such as a username and password that are specific to you and can be changed by you at any time.

WEECOINS' IMPORTANCE AND ROLE IN TRADE AND EXCHANGE TRANSACTIONS

One of the other significant features of trade is the presence of parties willing to engage in the transaction. Thanks to Weecomi's years of experience and a broad user base, it has both product/service providers and buyers who demand these products/services. In the coming years, to the extent permitted by the existing authorities, Weecoins can be used in your transactions and purchases. The evolution of decentralized finance has created various financial ecosystems built directly on blockchains that are transparent/verifiable through pre-defined coding known as cryptography and smart contracts. These platforms are redefining the structure of money markets without the need for a central authority or third-party decision-makers. In today's traditional world, even if users provide collateral such as a home or a car, they will still need to provide other factors such as credibility, provable income, and other factors for the lender to make a decision.

Weecoins utilize funds, generate earnings from these funds, borrow against this collateral, and use crypto assets on demand. Leveraging blockchain technology to ensure that transactions occur instantly and securely, it allows everyone to access a high-speed and low-cost DeFi system. All of these transactions take place directly on the blockchain.

WEEZARD

Problem

In an era where the concept of entertainment has greatly expanded, many people can now satisfy their entertainment needs through the virtual world. In this rapidly evolving period of artificial intelligence algorithms, the concept of gaming is no longer limited to just our computers. It has now been condensed into the smartphones or tablets we carry with us every day. Millions of people are playing games on their phones and spending their time immersed in technology. However, the challenge is that not every gamer can switch from one gaming app to another or transition to an entirely different application without constraints.

WEEROBOT

Problem

In today's world, more than five million people have turned trading into a profession. Individuals belonging to this professional group, known as "traders," are typically those who engage in various activities in the stock market and can place buy and sell orders. Traders often try to sustain their professional activities by buying and selling stocks, bonds, and securities. Considering the highly advanced technological developments of the 21st century we are in, human power can sometimes prove to be insufficient. In such cases of insufficiency, there can be instances of profit loss and even significant errors.

WEESALE

Problem

As one of the effects brought by the consumer society, shopping has become merely a habit for people. With the development of our fast consumption abilities, we can sometimes move towards getting rid of any product we buy immediately without it losing its novelty. To accomplish this, certain intermediary platforms may be required.
