Xchange Whitepaper

Xchange app is the biggest and most revolutionary idea in the shared economy and on a blockchain platform. The app turned the tables around on demand and supply as we know it around the globe. Xchange makes all item purchasing/renting much more accessible by enabling the posting of a need for an article and matching it with suppliers in order to fulfill a need, rather than the inefficient traditional method of finding a specific supplier for every specific item in life. Imagine that instead of accessing a website that sells bikes, or visiting a bike shop, you could simply post the bike that you would like to buy and the price willing to pay. And the same with any other item in the world.

Xchange enables users to get in touch directly with item suppliers in order to exchange products using XCH tokens, and it effectively ensures that item suppliers constantly fulfill the users needs. Because exchange is based on a powerful principle that states “what some need others have”. And through the use of our own community, we will give society the power of materializing instant needs.
