Overview

Yei Finance, the Sei-native money market for decentralized lending and borrowing.

Welcome to Yei Finance, the Sei-native money market within the Clovis ecosystem. Yei Finance is a decentralized, non-custodial money market on the Sei network, and the proven foundation Clovis builds on to extend liquidity and execution across chains. Our protocol engages users in the following ways:

- Deposit Assets: Suppliers enhance market liquidity by depositing assets, earning passive income as their cryptocurrencies yield returns.
- Borrow Assets: Borrowers access funds through two main frameworks: traditional overcollateralized loans and undercollateralized loans via our flash loan feature, each adhering to stringent risk parameters.
- Manage Risks: We equip our users with advanced tools and comprehensive information designed to manage and mitigate financial risks effectively.

Cryp2Nova

Yei Finance is committed to enhancing transparency and empowering our users by leveraging cutting-edge blockchain technology. This ensures that our financial services are secure, efficient, and widely accessible. Our platform accommodates a broad spectrum of assets, ranging from LRTs and LSTs to all major cryptocurrencies, and is designed to seamlessly adapt and incorporate new asset classes as the network grows. We cater to a diverse audience, including blockchain aficionados and financial investors, who are in search of innovative and strategic investment opportunities within the rapidly growing cryptocurrency market.
